

Privacy Policy

Age of Grace will not share information you supply with third parties without your permission except as is necessary for the processing and fulfillment of your order. We have agreements with our fulfillment service and Webmaster to protect the confidentiality of information supplied by our customers.

Sensitive information such as credit card and bank account numbers are encrypted with PGP software before transmission, received on secure servers, and stored offline while the order is being processed. Within a reasonable time after the order has been processed, the financial information is deleted or destroyed.